Maryland Blast Takes 10 Lives; Damage $500,000

CHESTERTOWN, Md. (AP) — Army demolition experts today studied the problem of removing highly sensitive lead azide from the scene of the blasts that Friday took at least 10 lives and wrecked a firework and munitions plant here. Persons living in nearby areas will be evacuated. Army spokesmen said, if the removal is attempted. Lead azide, an extremely sensitive nitro-glycerin compound, is used in the detonator fuses made by the Kent Manufacturing Co. at this Maryland Eastern Shore community.

Three Dead In Chicago

Friday's blasts, estimated by one company official as doing $500,000 damage, came in grim coincidence with a fireworks factory explosion in Chicago.

Three were killed and one injured in explosions in the Melrose Fireworks Co. building in suburban Schiller Park.

In Chestertown, one person was unaccounted for and it was feared the list of 10 dead might be lengthened by one more life.

Army, FBI and company officials sought the exact cause of the blasts and took precautions against further explosions.

National Guardsmen patrolled the streets and stood guard at the armory, converted to an emergency morgue, where the remains of 10 victims were bundled in blankets, most no bigger than overnight bags.

Bundles Identified

Six of these bundles had been identified through watches, rings, keys or by other means as five women and men who had worked on assembly lines putting together firecrackers, detonator fuses and

Government Pay Raises Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Post Office and Civil Service Committee has approved legislation for a 5 per cent across-the-board pay raise for about one million government civil service and congressional employees. The measure sets a minimum increase of $180 a year.

The cost was estimated at approximately 300 million dollars a year.

Postal employees previously had been voted equivalent increases to cost around 150 million dollars.

The committee took no action on the question of raises for employees of the judicial branch, the foreign service, or the department of medicine and surgery of the Veterans Administration. They were omitted on grounds that they came within the jurisdiction of other committees.

The committee embraced in its bill a measure already passed by the Senate concerned with "fringe" benefits—higher overtime pay, increased longevity payments and affecting leave.

Committee approval sends the bill to the House.

Detroit Dentist Freed In Killing Of Wife's Lover

ALLEGAN, Mich. (AP) — The love-triangle murder case against Dr. Kenneth B. Small, Detroit dentist who killed his pretty wife's admirer, ended in a dramatic verdict of acquittal by reason of insanity early today.

An Allegan County Circuit Court jury of 11 men and one woman returned its verdict at 1:40 a.m. CDT after five hours and four minutes of deliberation.

Courtroom Applause

Women spectators screamed. Others applauded. Some women kissed Dr. Small.

The verdict, in effect, held that Dr. Small, 31, society dentist, was not mentally responsible when he shot and killed Jules M. Lack, 45, New York playboy-industrialist, at a swank summer cottage near here last Memorial Day weekend.

At the time Small's blonde wife, Edith, 30, mother of three boys, was a guest with Lack at a house party. The husband had trailed her to the cottage after becoming suspicious of her story she was with a woman friend in Chicago.

As the verdict was about to be read, Dr. Small sat quietly. His eyes were closed. It appeared he might have been praying.

At the "not guilty" declaration, he looked behind him to smile at his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Small.

Goes To Hospital

Friends rushed to his side to clasp his hand.

Mrs. Small was not in the court room at the time of the verdict. Judge Raymond L. Smith required some moments to restore order. It was 10 minutes before the spectators quieted.

Michigan law requires that Dr. Small be kept in a state hospital until the state decides that he is sane, or insane. At this early date, he could be released at an early date, or never.

On petition of Defense Counsel Leo Hoffman the court granted a week's stay of the commitment order pending a plea for a writ of habeas corpus. Prosecutor Dwight M. Cheever had asked immediate commitment.

Dr. Small was returned to jail pending obtaining of the writ.

Communists Pushed Backward By French In Red River Delta

By FORREST EDWARDS

HANOI, Indochina (AP) — French units today reoccupied Camp De Rulin, 35 miles northeast of Hanoi, after 5,000 to 6,000 French Vietnamese troops in two columns pushed Communist rebels north of the Luc Nam-Phu Lang Thuong road on the northern edge of the Red River Delta.

The two columns, both spearheaded by tanks and supported by dive bombers and artillery, pushed east out of Phu Lang Thuong and west out of Luc Nam and joined forces midway before swinging north, a French briefing officer reported.

Vietminh mortars and machine-guns harassed the two columns but otherwise fighting was considerably less than the battle that raged in the same area the day before.

South of Son Tay, 25 miles west of Hanoi, 7,000 French Vietnamese troops surrounded a four-village area in which 3,000 Vietminh were supposed to be hiding — only to find the rebels had slipped out of the trap.

Northwest of Hanoi, Vietminh pressure continued to build up, with small, bitter fights flaring along roads between Vinh Yen and Phuc Yen. In one, 22 rebels were killed and several captured. Tanks and infantry units went to the aid of French road guard patrols hit by Vietminh fighters in the same area.

At Hanoi, 600 women and youth were released from French prison camps. They had been arrested and held as suspected Vietminh sympathizers and suppliers. Another 400 are to be released daily until 1,850 are freed, French authorities said.

Sovereignty Issue For West Germany May Delay Congress

By WARREN ROGERS JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Knowland said today Congress might have to delay adjournment or come back in special session if it becomes necessary to consider early sovereignty for West Germany.

The Californian told newsmen the decision must await a recommendation from the Eisenhower administration which has been stepping up German sovereignty talk in an effort to prod the French into ratifying the six-nation European Defense Community.

Secretary of State Dulles has arranged a special meeting next week to "discuss procedures" with Senate and House Republican and Democratic leaders and with members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Congress is shooting for adjournment by July 31. The French Assembly is due to quit work Aug. 15. The Eisenhower administration is anxious for French ratification of EDC before that date.

The high-level strategy session was announced by Chairman Wiley (R-Wis.) Friday after Dulles spent about two hours reporting to the Foreign Relations Committee on

Censure Against McCarthy Tests Senate Politics

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) said today the Senate's handling of his demand for a vote of censure against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) will test its "political morality."

Flanders Friday announced he was abandoning efforts to get the Senate to fire McCarthy from committee chairmanships.

He said he would offer on Tuesday instead, a resolution which would place the Senate on record as declaring McCarthy's conduct as chairman of the Senate investigations subcommittee "is hereby condemned" as unbecoming a senator.

Potter Move Blocked

Flanders said he will seek an immediate vote on it Tuesday—the same day McCarthy faces a threatened showdown with subcommittee members seeking to force a shakeup of his staff appointees.

McCarthy, watching his bubbling troubles on both fronts, said he feels "no concern" about Flanders' new move, and told reporters that "as far as I'm concerned" it will be all right for his subcommittee to bring the staff problem to a head at its closed door meeting Tuesday.

He had blocked a staff shakeup move by Sen. Potter (R-Mich.)

American Soldiers Captured By Czechs Tell Of Red Grilling

By TOM STONE

FUERTH, Germany (AP) — Seven American soldiers held 12 days in Communist Czechoslovakia said today their captors threatened them with imprisonment if they did not reveal U.S. military secrets.

Capt. Jack Davis, 31, of Raytown, Mo. — one of the captives — said Czech army officers told the men "after a year or so (in prison) you will probably give better answers."

Warning Shots Fired

Davis, speaking for the others at a news conference in an Army military courtroom crowded with photographers and newsmen, said they were never bodily harmed or threatened with physical violence.

The seven are: Davis, Pvt. Richard J. Jumper, 21, Bonneville, Miss., Pfc. Leonard D. Tennen, 18, Alliance, Ohio, Cpl. John F. Glasen, 24, Oakdale, Calif., Pfc. Jerry W. Griffith, 22, Springfield, Ohio, Pte. George Switzer, 23, Millburn, N.J., and Pvt. Ross McGinnis, 21, Greensburg, Pa.

Wrangles With Russia Block Truce Bargain

By EDDY GILMORE

GENEVA (AP) — Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith arrived by plane today to strengthen France's hand in the rough bargaining for peace in Indochina.

The U.S. diplomat, returning to head the delegation he left four weeks ago, was greeted by members of all the non-Communist delegations.

Significantly, the delegations of the three Associated States of Indochina, Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos, were represented at the airport by the heads of their delegations. The three states are counting heavily on the influence of the United States to save them from submission to excessive Communist demands in the impending armistice negotiations.

Time Running Out

French Premier Pierre Mendes-France and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden arranged to confer with Smith after his arrival.

Gloom spread over the conference Friday night after Mendes-France and Eden spent three apparently fruitless hours wrangling with Russia's V. M. Molotov over differences blocking a truce agreement.

One authoritative source said there had been "no progress at all on any of the real issues."

It was Mendes-France's second abortive parley with Molotov in 24 hours. Earlier the Reds had boosted Western hopes they were ready to compromise and allow the French premier to win his dramatic race to end the Indochina War.

The French premier has promised to resign if he doesn't achieve a ceasefire agreement by July 20.

Although western diplomats now are less optimistic about chances for a truce they think the Reds might still come around before the deadline date.

The Communists and the Western ministers have failed to agree on a partition line through the pivotal Indochinese state of Viet Nam.

Division Line Disputed

Mendes-France reportedly wants the line cut at the 18th Parallel. The Communists want the state divided at the 14th latitude which would give them most of Viet Nam including the important air and

Bingo Petitions Lack 231 Names

LANSING (AP) — A proposal to legalize bingo in Michigan now is only 231 signatures away from a place on the November ballot.

The State Board of Canvassers will meet Monday morning to decide whether to give it that place by validating any or all of 40,000 signatures which have been rejected tentatively by the State Elections Division.

Friday's gap of 468 signatures was narrowed to 231 by Charles A. MacLean, Lansing attorney for the Michigan Assn. of Non-Profit Charitable Organizations, sponsors of the move to legalize bingo.

MacLean said he was able to prove that petitions bearing 237 signatures were properly signed by the circular and the elections division accepted them.

MacLean said he would ask the board Monday to validate other classes of disputed signatures.

The Michigan and Detroit Councils of Churches, foes of bingo, are expected to oppose the move.

The charitable association filed more than 326,000 signatures. They need 286,598 to secure a ballot position.

League Issues Voters Guide

The League of Women Voters of Michigan has prepared in newspaper form a "Voters Guide" for Michigan citizens who will vote in the primary election to be held Aug. 3, and copies of the paper are being distributed in this community by the Escanaba League of Women Voters.

"Voters Guide" is being placed for free distribution in Escanaba banks and in shopping centers by the League of Women Voters as a public service. It will also be distributed to local service clubs.

A national non-partisan organization, the League of Women Voters encourages citizen participation in government. It never supports or opposes any political party or candidate; it does support or oppose issues after careful study without regard to the stand of any party.

For "Voters Guide" the candidates were interviewed and biographical data was obtained from each candidate. The interviews were limited to candidates whose names will appear on ballots in all districts of Michigan: United States Senator, governor of Michigan, and lieutenant governor.

The League of Women Voters urges Michigan electors to register and to vote in all primary as well as general elections.

Standardized School Buildings Can Save Taxpayers Money

EAST LANSING — Standardized school buildings would fit 90 per cent of the requirements of Michigan public schools and save the taxpayers money.

That statement was made Friday to the Michigan State College architectural workshop by Louis H. Schimmel, director of the municipal advisory council.

Schimmel argued that public school districts often are not getting their money's worth in building new schools because they hire attorneys who do not understand school bonding procedures and architects who often "have never built anything more than a gas station before."

Opposition to school standardization comes mainly from "local pride and the architects," Schimmel said.

Dr. Clyde M. Campbell of the MSC department of educational administration, objected that standardized building might lead to standardized school systems.

He said the State Department of Public Instruction now passes on all school plans and that MSC, the University of Michigan and Wayne

Industrial Realtors To Check Potential Of U.P.

The survey committee of the Michigan chapter of the National Society of Industrial Realtors will take a "quick look" at the Upper Peninsula next week to learn the region's industrial potentials and how they will be affected by construction of the Straits of Mackinac bridge and the St. Lawrence seaway.

The group will arrive in Marquette, via North Central Airlines plane, at noon Thursday, July 22, and will be guests of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau at luncheon in the Hotel Northland. Roger Hubbard, president of the Michigan NSIR chapter, will address Bureau officers and directors—holding their midsummer meeting on that date—on the purpose of this visit to the peninsula.

HEALTH CHATS

By DR. F. T. SCHUETZE

Low Back Pain

Back ache is a general term and could include arthritis, slipped disc, lumbar, sciatica and other ailments. A chiropractor knows that, while these ailments may differ slightly, they are all caused by a misalignment of the spine, that is, a vertebra is out of place.

In cases of slipped discs, where records were kept, chiropractic has been able to improve the patients in 96% of the cases with a high percentage of these being completely cured. There are many kinds of arthritis. The first sign of the disease is an inflammation of the joints. This is caused by a depletion of the nerve force flowing through the spine to the delicate tissues making up the joint. The interference of this nerve force is due to a misalignment of one of the vertebrae of the spine. Sciatica is also caused by a misaligned vertebra with a resultant pressure on the sciatic nerve, sometimes causing pain right down to the toes. The term lumbar is used to denote any low back pain and the cause is the same, pressure on some nerve in the spine.

Just as there is one link of a chain weaker than the rest, so it is with human spine. When an individual suffers a fall, a blow, or severe strain, the weakest vertebra gives. This is the reason each person is affected differently. With the aid of an X-ray a good chiropractor is able to find the weak link and painlessly and easily adjust the spine so that the pain disappears. By keeping the spine properly aligned over a period of time the end result will be, not only freedom from pain but great improvement in the general physical condition of the patient.

Surgery, back braces, crutches and wheel chairs can often be avoided if the cause of the disease is found and corrected before too much damage is done. Try chiropractic first for back trouble and you will be pleasantly surprised at the rapid and lasting results.

Senate Has Chance To Show Statesmanship In Farm Fight

EVIDENTLY backers of high, fixed farm price supports in the Senate have two proposals by which they hope to thwart President Eisenhower's plan for the lower, more flexible supports. The defenders of the status quo yield slowly.

Senator Mundt, South Dakota Republican and member of the Senate Agriculture Committee, says that of course the first effort will be to put across a measure continuing the existing 90 per cent of parity support level.

If that fails, the high support forces will urge an amendment to set the level at some point intermediate between 90 per cent of parity and the 82½ per cent approved by the House more than a week ago.

Either move would naturally be a severe blow to Mr. Eisenhower and all those who are troubled by the effect of high farm supports in building unmanageable surpluses of basic crops.

The President's desire was for a flexible plan that would encompass a range from 75 per cent to 90 per cent of parity. The House bill advanced the lower limit to 82½ per cent, which is damage enough to the principle of flexibility. But at least the House, by a margin of 228 to 170, passed a plan which still can make some reasonable claim to serving the President's goal.

Indeed, not only was it a personal triumph for Mr. Eisenhower that he succeeded in getting this much approved; but it was a tribute to the political courage of House members that so many would stand with the President on an issue they consider fraught with danger for them at the polls.

It would be ironic if the Senate should now block or overturn this good work. The Senate prides itself on being more statesmanlike and less amenable to lobby pressures than the House.

It believes itself more capable of representing the whole country's interests than a body of men speaking for relatively small local constituencies.

All that the ordinary citizen can say about this is: This is the Senate's chance to prove it. In the last few years the Senate already has shown itself quite incapable of policing its membership. It would not help its reputation if it should now demonstrate that it is less resistant to selfish pressures from special groups than is the House.

Personal Evangelism Is Needed

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

Jesus said that the test of discipleship, and the glorifying of God, was in bearing much fruit (John 15:8). "Herein is My Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be My disciples."

I have written about what we say and do to the glory of God in our worship; but it is obvious in accordance with the words of Jesus that the test of our worship, also, is its issue in fruitful Christian living.

What does it mean to bear the fruit that glorifies God?

I suppose that the greatest form of fruit-bearing is that in which the original disciples were engaged; that of bringing others to Jesus.

There is a Christian organization, the Brotherhood of Andrew and Philip. It was founded upon the incidents in the first chapter of John's Gospel of the bringing of Peter to Jesus by Andrew, and of Philip bringing Nathaniel, and has long been devoted to the business of personal evangelism.

That is something in which every Christian should be engaged, and no movements of mass evangelism can be permanently effective unless the spirit and activity of personal evangelism be present and enduring.

As I write these words a great movement of mass evangelism has just closed, in the campaign of Billy Graham, in England.

At first, except in the limited circles of those who invited him, his reception was not very cordial.

Newspapers criticized his coming, fear that he would manifest the worst and most extravagant aspects of some American evangelist.

The attitude toward Billy Graham in England seems to have changed very quickly under the impression of his deep sincerity, the effectiveness of his preaching, and the freedom of the campaign from the financial and extravagant features with which mass campaigns have often been associated.

Eminent churchmen, who may not have agreed with Mr. Graham's theological and Biblical ideas in every respect, rallied to his support.

His evangelism seems to have been more like that of the great D. L. Moody, in one of the last of whose campaigns I took an active part when I was a student in Toronto.

From the vast throngs that attended the Billy Graham meetings, one may anticipate a number of changed lives. Many changes may not be permanent, but despite those relapses many transformations to newness of life will be life-long and strong.

But the ultimate success of all such mass evangelism is in its effect upon the churches and the normal Christian life.

From all accounts British churches needed a strong arousal. Apathy and decay had settled in many quarters. Churches once filled were in many places almost deserted.

The ultimate power of winning souls for Christ rests with the normal life and activity of the churches and the Christian fellowship. Theirs is the task of Christian nurture; of teaching and guiding the young so that they never go astray or need rescuing. That is a basic form of evangelism.

But with that is the work of creating an evangelistic atmosphere and environment, which is a persistent and constant invitation to all to accept the message of Christ's Gospel, and find the new life in Him.

This is one great way of bearing fruit to the glory of God.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Important backstage huddles have been taking place among both Democratic and Republican senators regarding Joe McCarthy. Upon these huddles will depend the outcome of the big test vote on McCarthy which Senator Flanders of Vermont is bringing to a head next week.

The huddling among Republican senators has been to urge Flanders not to force them to a vote. Some senators, such as Saitonstall of Massachusetts, have said: "If you call for a vote it will defeat me. For I'll have to vote for your resolution."

What Saitonstall referred to was the strong McCarthy sentiment among the Boston Irish and the fact that he faces a tough re-election fight. This was why he ducked having the Army-McCarthy probe referred to his Armed Services Committee as the White House originally suggested.

However, Ralph Flanders is as inflexible as the granite of his own mountainous Vermont, a state which voted Republican even during the Roosevelt landslide of 1936. Like many other New England Republicans, Flanders believes that the party should be purged of un-Republican influences, and he considers McCarthy one of them.

By no means a radical, Flanders began life as a machine-tool designer, now owns his own factory, is a millionaire. He was president of the Eryant Chipping Grinder Co. until elected to the senate, is director of various insurance companies, was president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, has a distinguished record as an engineer.

And having watched McCarthy from the sidelines for four years, he is convinced the Republican party cannot shirk the responsibility of voting for or against McCarthy's retention as chairman.

Flanders thinks he has 12 Republican senators who will vote with him. Other senators say he is too optimistic. But whether right or wrong, Flanders is determined to call for a showdown vote.

LYNDON SAYS NO

Backstage huddling among Democratic senators is over how they should line up on the Flanders vote. If most of them line up with Flanders, McCarthy will lose his chairmanhip. For they control one-half the senate.

However, the likable and elusive leader of the senate Democrats, Lyndon Johnson of Texas, has decreed otherwise.

Exactly two years ago, Johnson was in about the same position on about the same issue. A senate subcommittee had just adopted unanimously the most devastating report on McCarthy's finances ever made on a full senator. And the big question was: "What action should Democratic senators take?"

Johnson ruled: "No action at all." Other senators, such as Fulbright of Arkansas and Hennings of Missouri, believed the senate should face the issue of McCarthyism then and there. So did Neely of West Virginia.

Republicans were then busy challenging other senators, but not McCarthy. They challenged Democratic Senator Chavez of New Mexico and their own Republican colleague, Langer of North Dakota, by refusing to let them take their seats permanently as they walked down the center aisle. They faced the humiliation of being seated subject to later vote and investigation.

But as the senator from Wisconsin walked up to the rostrum to take the oath, not one voice rang out to challenge him—despite the fact that only a few hours earlier a critical 400-page document on McCarthy's finances had been unanimously adopted and published for every senator to read.

TEXAS OIL MONEY

The reason Lyndon Johnson ducked the McCarthy issue at that time was attributed to the fact that Texas oilmen were heavily behind McCarthy. Lyndon feared they might put a candidate in the race against him if he bucked McCarthy. So, as the Louisville Courier-Journal pointed out, the policies of the Democratic party in the senate were shaped by the election ambitions of one man rather than the good of the nation.

These were the circumstances under which McCarthy was ducked two years ago, and it was this evasion that helped win for the senator from Texas the nickname of "Lyin'-down" Johnson.

Today Johnson faces no important election opposition. The son of a wealthy but nonpolitical oilman, Dudley Dougherty, is running against him, but will get nowhere. It will be a walkaway for Lyndon.

However, the handsome Texan has passed the word to Democratic colleagues that the vote on McCarthy is a Republican battle, and the Democrats will not line up one way or the other. A majority will probably vote against Flanders and inferentially for McCarthy on the technicality that seniority rule for committee chairmanships must not be disturbed.

But the ultimate success of all such mass evangelism is in its effect upon the churches and the normal Christian life.

From all accounts British churches needed a strong arousal. Apathy and decay had settled in many quarters. Churches once filled were in many places almost deserted.

The ultimate power of winning souls for Christ rests with the normal life and activity of the churches and the Christian fellowship. Theirs is the task of Christian nurture; of teaching and guiding the young so that they never go astray or need rescuing. That is a basic form of evangelism.

But with that is the work of creating an evangelistic atmosphere and environment, which is a persistent and constant invitation to all to accept the message of Christ's Gospel, and find the new life in Him.

This is one great way of bearing fruit to the glory of God.

Benson Family Shows Why The Nation Is Strong As Its Homes

AT A BESON FAMILY "HOME EVENING," three generations listen to son Mark read from sacred scripture. Mark's son Stephen sits on grandfather Ezra's lap. Others in family group (left to right): Mrs. Ezra Benson, Mrs. Mark Benson, and the Secretary of Agriculture's daughters, Flora Beth, 9; Bonnie, 14, and Beverly, 16. Daughter Barbara and son Reed were out of town.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The heart of the American home is the family. And for the Ezra Bensons, lately of Utah and now of Washington, D. C., the heart of family life is something called their "Home Evening."

Usually a once-a-week get-together in the home of the Secretary of Agriculture, it begins with family prayer and a hymn, then a "faith-promoting" discussion' perhaps, on scripture.

Next comes a round-table on family affairs, big and little—what TV program they'll watch, the budget, or maybe dating rules for the girls. There may be a letter to read from an absent member of the family.

The budget is a give-and-take proposition. Even Dad Benson has been out-voted—on the color of a new family car.

There'll be entertainment by the children, and finally, a closing song and prayer. And afterwards, fun with games and refreshments.

To the Bensons, home is a wonderful place to be.

FAMILY EVENING at the Benson's includes family-style entertainment. Here the living room spotlight falls on Flora Beth in a song-and-dance routine with Bonnie at the piano.

Good Evening...

BY CLINT DUNATHAN

FROM THE TREES—A few years ago a relative of mine from the sun-baked corn country of Illinois came to see me and was impressed with the Northern Michigan countryside.

"It looks just like a cemetery," he commented, "with all those evergreen trees!"

At that time we could think of no proper defensive response. Now we know that we should have told him that where trees exist the country is alive, the national economy is on even keel, and there is little possibility of the disaster of drought or flood.

For trees serve man in so many ways that it is impossible to enumerate them all. In this Upper Peninsula forest land our trees are like money in the bank—and if they were spent it would require many years to restore them.

Once the Upper Peninsula was in a bad way, tree-speaking. The big timber had been harvested, second growth was on its way up, and forest fires had ravaged much of the countryside, scarring the very soil.

OF MANY USES—The chair in which you sit, the table at which you eat, the floor on which you walk, the bed in which you sleep—all these are made of wood from trees.

More than likely your house is made of wood, some of the ingredients of the paint with which it is painted comes from trees, the handle of the paint brush is of wood, and you place a fence of wood around your lawn.

Food is placed in a paper sack (made from wood) when you carry it from the store, and it is received by the merchant in paper cartons; the paper on which we write is wood, and the newspaper on which this is printed is made from trees.

The poles that carry your telephone and electric lines—they are the straightest poles of trees denuded to serve man's interest.

The great ore docks that dwarf the ore carriers are made of wood, and the little slivers we insert between our teeth to remove pieces of food is made of wood.

No facet of life is too large and none too small not to be concerned with wood and the forests from which it comes; and no nation can grow and prosper if it has neither forests nor access to forest resources.

DOWNTON YET UP—J. A. Hill, director of forest products laboratory, Timber Producers Association, points out that new uses are constantly being found for wood.

And this is well, because many of the traditional wood users are being abandoned.

The lumber market is falling below the nation's rising population curve, he notes. In fact, the trend has been in that direction since 1910. Although consumption of lumber is slowly increasing, it is at a slower rate than the population.

However, the important thing is that the curve for total consumption of wood products exclusive of fuel wood is rising faster than the population curve—has been doing so for the past 20 years as man finds new methods of utilization.

And this includes all of the new paper goods, new kinds of fiber boards, veneer, and plywood products.

LOOKING AHEAD—What of the future? Hall is optimistic.

"Wood has emerged as a highly regarded industrial raw material. I believe that any consideration of future potentialities in forest products must face this fact very seriously.

"Wood cannot be considered apart from technological developments in other fields."

Her sister, Miss Marlene McCarthy, who was maid of honor, wore aqua and the bridal aide, another sister, Miss Lenore McCarthy, was in pink. Their strapless gowns of nylon net over taffeta were worn with matching lace jackets and sweetheart hats. The maid of honor carried a cascade bouquet of yellow and white carnations and roses. The bridesmaid's like bouquet was blue and white flowers. A frock of white embroidered organdy with hoop skirt was the attire of Linda Lancour who was flower girl. Her headpiece was fresh flowers and she carried a pink maline basket filled with pink tea roses and daisies.

Student At MSC Is Miss Michigan

MUSKEGON (P)—Janice Somers, a Michigan State College coed, held undisputed claim today to the title of "Miss Michigan."

She won a re-run of the beauty contest in Muskegon Friday night and the judges' verdict won applause from the audience. Miss Somers will represent Michigan at the annual "Miss America" pageant at Atlantic City.

In the original contest last month Deloris Sasin of Bloomfield Hills got the nod from the judges. But the audience booted so much she wore the crown less than 24 hours before being dethroned.

The Greater Muskegon junior chamber of commerce ordered another contest with new judges.

Miss Somers, who was runner-up in the first contest, has light brown hair, blue eyes, measures 5-6 in height and weighs 125 pounds.

Miss Sasin did not enter the second contest.

La Vonne Kronberg, "Miss Grand Rapids," was runner-up and Rosaline Sappington, "Miss West Branch," placed third.

Russia To Remove Tank Memorial In West Berlin

BERLIN (P)—The Russians asked the U. S. Army today for permission to remove the controversial Soviet tank memorial from the American sector of West Berlin. The unexpected request undoubtedly will be granted.

The memorial—to the first Red Army tank to pierce Nazi Berlin in April 1945—has stood as a symbol of Russian presence in the beleaguered German capital.

West Berliners vented their spleen against the memorial during the Soviet blockade of 1948-49 and defaced it with paint and vandalistic attacks. The battered T34 tank astride a marble base has been an eyesore ever since.

Gen. A. A. Grechko, commander-in-chief of Soviet forces in East Germany, sent today's request to U. S. Army headquarters in Heidelberg, asking negotiations to arrange for the removal.

Westerners were astonished at the request. The Russians have never shown any sign before of being willing to discard the tiniest symbol of their might in Berlin and East Germany. Masters of propaganda, the Soviets must know also, Western circles speculated, that the Germans will view the removal of the tank as perhaps the beginning of the end of an era.

The tank has been a source of annoyance since the blockade. Soviet protests against the defacement were met by official Western comment that one could not expect the West Berliner to feel kindly toward a power that tried to starve him, and that went for his monuments too.

Munising Woman, Victim Of Auto Crash, Is Dead

MUNISING — Miss Freda LeVeque, 34, died at 2:55 p. m. Thursday in the Munising hospital of injuries she received in an automobile accident Monday morning.

Miss LeVeque fell out of a car driven by Lon S. Brassard, 31, Marquette, as he was driving her to work at the Munising Paper Company mill.

Brassard was arraigned Tuesday in Munising Justice Court on two charges—reckless driving and failure to have an operator's license. He was unable to post bond and is being held in the Alger county jail pending further investigation of the case.

Boat That Went Down With Five Recovered Off Drummond Island

DE TOUR — A home-made, all-metal boat that went down with five persons on an outing July 5 was lifted from the deep waters of Lake Huron Friday.

Nothing was found, searchers said, to indicate why the 15-foot craft went down off Scammon's Cove on the southern shore of Drummond Island. Neither of two missing bodies was recovered with the boat.

Bodies of Roy Alfred Onnella, 40, of Oak Park; his son, Larry, 6, and George Smick, 61, of Dearborn, previously were recovered. Missing are those of Onnella's daughter Betty, 13, and his brother, George, 52, of Drummond Island.

Liquor Sales Drop

LANSING (P)—Liquor sales dropped in Michigan during June, the State Liquor Control Commission said today.

The commission said case sales were down 1.6 per cent and dollar volume fell from $11,110,254 to $10,738,625.

Sales for the year to date totalled $71,640,162, compared to $74,905,667 for the same period last year.

Results Of Polio Vaccine Won't Be Known For A Year

ANN ARBOR (P)—The nation must wait until some time next year before it learns the results of the thousands of Salk polio vaccine shots given this spring.

The University of Michigan's poliomyelitis vaccine evaluation center released that statement Thursday.

It is at the center where the hundreds of thousands of reports are flooding in to be recorded, surveyed and evaluated. And from the center will come the word of whether the vaccine was able to stop polio in some 1,800,000 tested children.

Dr. Thomas Francis Jr., 54, director of the evaluation center, said it would be Nov. 1 before the report even begins to shape up. That date is during the period when the polio season begins to taper off.

Japan To Build U. S. Sabre Jets

TOKYO (P)—A Japanese company has signed a "technical tie-up contract" with the North American Aviation Co., giving it production rights to the U. S. Sabre jet fighter, Kyodo News Service reported today.

Shin Mitsubishi heavy industries said it signed a five-year contract with North American in the United States Tuesday.

Mitsubishi currently has a contract for repairing Sabre jets operated by Far East air forces.

The announcement of the contract signing did not say the Japanese company will make Sabre jets, only that it can "obtain sole production rights" of the F8F Sabre model any time during the next five years.

The self-defense board, Japan's department of defense, said earlier that Japan hopes to start producing Sabres within the next 12 months, at the rate of about 10 a month.

Notre Dame Has Deal To Buy Radio Station WHOT At South Bend

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (P)—The University of Notre Dame, long interested in operating a radio and television station, will seek federal approval of a deal to purchase South Bend radio station WHOT.

The university said Friday it had reached an agreement with Universal Broadcasting Co. for the purchase of WHOT through the school's Michigan Telecasting Corp.

The sale, for an undisclosed price, must be approved by the Federal Communications Commission in Washington.

The Rev. Edmund P. Joyce, Notre Dame executive vice president and secretary-treasurer of Michigan, said WHOT would continue its broadcasts temporarily from downtown studios. But eventually it will be moved to the campus, he added, and television facilities installed if the corporation's application for a channel is successful.

Deputy Sheriff Loses In Hazel Park Races; Passes 45 Bad Checks

PONTIAC (P)—Anthony Campagna, 32, an Oakland County special deputy sheriff who police say has admitted passing 45 bad checks in 30 days, will stand trial in Circuit Court.

Campagna, of suburban Oak Park, was arraigned Friday before Justice John Gaffill in Birmingham. He waived examination and was bound over for trial on $500 bond.

Detective Glenn Foltz of the Birmingham police department, quoted Campagna as saying he passed the checks because of heavy losses at the Hazel Park Harness Raceway.

Meanwhile, he said, codifying will continue day and night to get the work done. The code work takes place in the basement of an old campus building. But only three persons know what the figures and letters mean.

They are Dr. Francis, Dr. Robert F. Korn, 40, on leave from the New York state department of health and Robert B. Vought, 44, U. S. Census Bureau statistician.

Dr. Francis refused to comment on reports that a few inoculated children have contracted polio. He said:

"We deeply sympathize and understand the national anxiety which hangs on the announcement of our study, but we must excuse ourselves from answering individual inquiries."

Some 650,000 children in 14,000 schools were given shots, but only 440,000 received the Salk vaccine. Another 210,000 received the neutral control substance. The cost, says the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, has been $7,500.

The experiment will be compiled into categories to determine whether children who received the vaccine fared better against polio than those who received a control substance or no injections at all.

Shots were given in 44 states. In Michigan, 10 counties participated counting some 54,600 children.

after handcuffing us.

Davis said that these first questions were "of a military nature," but did not elaborate.

No threats were made at this first interrogation, but the Czechs insisted that the men, all members of a medical detachment, were spies.

Awakened At Daybreak

"They questioned us in all six or seven times, sometimes as long as six hours. They questioned me on everything ranging from military subjects to American politics and Senator McCarthy," Davis went on.

Jumper, a six-foot two-inch Negro, said his Communist inquisitors raised the race question.

"I don't know exactly what they were trying to find out," he said, "because they asked me an awful lot of questions altogether. But they did try to make something out of it."

The men all said they were fed three meals a day, which included coffee and black bread for breakfast, stew at noon and stew again at night. They were awakened at daybreak, even though at least one interrogation was carried on late at night.

Davis said the food was sufficient and rich in protein but "too low on carbohydrates."

"Their best food isn't as good as our worst," he added.

Although the men did not know what kind of prison they were held in, they heard the voices of other prisoners.

"One night I heard some people praying aloud in an adjoining cell," Davis said. "It sounded like it was women's voices but too muffled for me to be sure."

"That same night, very late, I did hear a woman's voice," Davis continued. "She was moaning and crying. It sounded like she was crying 'Montag! Montag!' (Monday! Monday!) in German."

The others were Mrs. Mary E. Fallowfield, 64, wife of a banker and town councilman; Mrs. Nellie Starr, 47; Mrs. Lina Mae Taylor, 41; and Mrs. Magdaline Seiler, 57, of Henderson, Md.

Five other women were listed by their families as missing but it was probable the names of four could be matched with the four unidentified bundles on the armory floor. Remains of the 11th victim apparently were still buried somewhere in the maze of shuddering timber that had once been part of eight main buildings and 22 smaller structures destroyed.

Cause Not Determined

While the rumor persisted that two jet planes were flying over the plant seconds before had touched off the blaze by jarring the highly sensitive lead azide, a nitro-glycerine compound used in detonator fuses, authorities discounted the possibility.

Boston Trip Canceled

The Senate GOP leadership, clearly unhappy about the whole business of fights involving McCarthy, cracked down Friday on his plan to launch public hearings in Boston today to explore his charges of Communist infiltrations of defense plants. Majority Leader Knowland of California said he didn't want any committee meeting outside Washington with the Senate holding a session here today.

McCarthy cancelled the Boston trip, and said he would hold the hearings in Washington instead, on Monday and Tuesday.

Flanders issued a prepared statement to announce his switch in plans. He said his original resolution, which would have ordered McCarthy fired as chairman of the investigations subcommittee and its parent, the Government Operations Committee, was designed "to give the Senate the opportunity to repudiate the conduct of Mr. McCarthy who has brought half of Chesterfield to a standstill because he was abandoning it when some senators disliked the idea of upsetting the Senate's traditional method of awarding chairmanships on a seniority basis.

Knowland, who opposed Flanders' original motion, declined to disclose whether he would allow an immediate test on the new Flanders motion Tuesday or insist that the resolution be sent to the Rules Committee.

He said he was abandoning it because some senators disliked the idea of upsetting the Senate's traditional method of awarding chairmanships on a seniority basis.

Building Of Dry,
Handy Basements
No Longer Tricky

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
AP Real Estate Editor

Basements today are more of a national architectural controversy than shutters on the window, frozen lace—or what kind of gingerbread do you prefer? The South, in general, is due for a shock in this controversy and so are many other parts of the country where basements are rated as excess baggage.

You can save money, all right, by eliminating a basement when building a small house. But is it a pennywise saving? A basement usually is the cheapest part of a house to build. Now that basements can be kept dry and healthful so easily, a man building a permanent home without a basement runs a big risk of short changing himself.

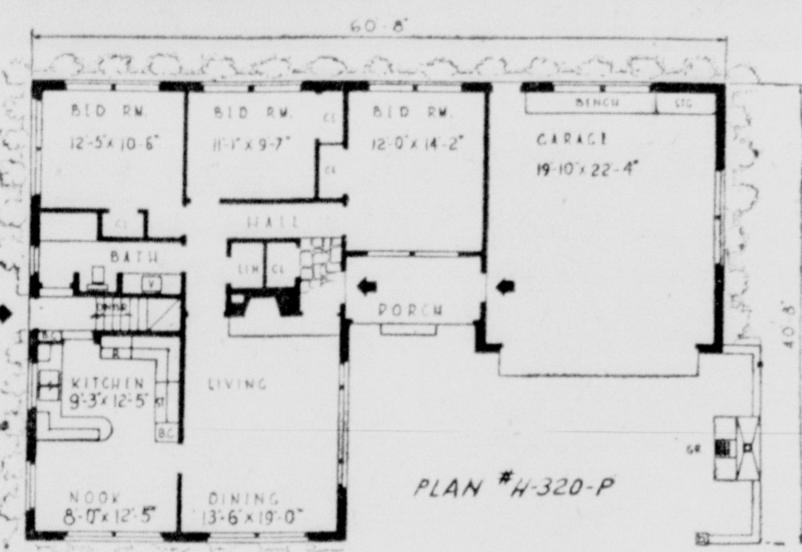

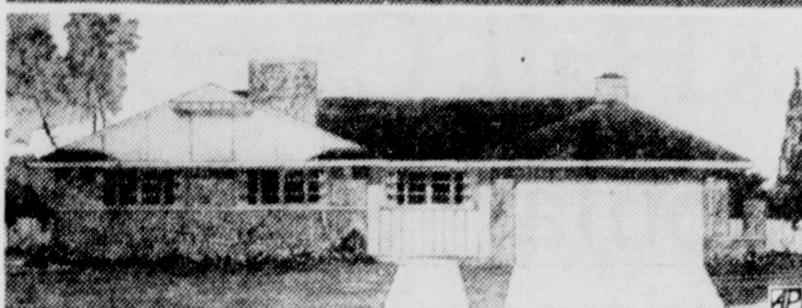

You may dispute this, but keep your guard up for the rebuttal. The antebasement school of architects contends that you can save about $1,000 by eliminating the cellar when building an average-size house.

The probasement boys say you can have all the space provided by a dry and finished basement for no more than $1.50 per square foot in contrast to probably $15 per square foot for construction above the ground.

The construction of watertight basements is no trick nowadays. And the waterproofing of existing basements is almost as easy with modern materials and methods. Watertight basements have been built below sea level in thousands of places and in existing basements waterproofers have stopped inflows of water at the rate of many gallons per minute.

One of the major points in this controversy seems to be the need for a basement. An expert for the Portland Cement Assn. says people who moved into basementless

GOOD TRAFFIC CONTROL distinguishes this plan. Direct access to living room and any of the three bedrooms is provided from the front door without passage through any other room. Service entry provides direct access to bath, kitchen or basement. This is plan H-320-P by the Homograph Co., 11711 East Eight Mile Rd., East Detroit, Mich. The house covers 1,322 square feet without its two-car garage. (Further information and blueprints available from architect).

ranch-type houses "have found the walls shrinking rapidly inwards."

He was referring to the need for storage space. "How can a man corral a steamer trunk, tool kits, storm windows and screens into a closet-size utility room already bulging with a perambulator, golf clubs, vacuum cleaner and assorted household equipment?" he asked.

The antis say all basements are just cellars and they're dark and gloomy. The pros say they don't have to be that way—just make the windows larger, or paint your window wells white or aluminum and you can spread cheer and sunshine under your house.

The antis say that basements provide more space than you need. The pros reply that it all depends on how you use that space—for storage, hobbies, recreation, workshop, etc.

Stop at that workshop, say the antis—your tools will rust; your blueprints and books will mildew.

Buy dehumidifier, reply the pros. And with that challenge they have something.

Have you gone down to your basement in the last few summer days and found the place damp and cool and musty?

The only way to beat this, we have found, is to pump the moisture out of the air. You can do this with an electric dehumidifier. These machines work on the refrigeration principle. A fan keeps the air circulating around a condenser coil, which instead of freezing, drips the condensation into a pan. In 24 hours, one of these machines can remove as much as 14 quarts of water from the air.

But before you buy one, try it for comparative silence. A good one should not be noisy.

The unusual thing about these figures is the realistic effects obtained by the use of just the right colors and shades in painting. Any good oil paint may be used. Formulas for mixing from red, yellow and blue are given in the pattern. If watercolor poster paint is preferred it may be applied to the raw wood and then the entire piece waterproofed. The exact position and shape of each color is traced on the wood as well as the saw lines for cutting out the blanks. If you do not have a power saw any woodworker can saw out the blanks while you wait. Then comes the fun of painting. This pattern is included in the Lawn and Garden Figures Packet of six patterns for $1. The pattern shown may be ordered separately for 25c.

Keep Fix-It Eye On Outside Walls Of Frame Houses

By MR. FIX

Distributed by NEA Service
The majority of wood-frame houses have exterior walls covered with wood siding, shingles or wallboard. Regular inspection and maintenance of these coverings is essential if they are to be long-lived.

Summertime being outdoors time, it is a good time to meander around the homestead for a look—see at how its exterior walls are holding up under continued exposure to the elements.

Since the various covering materials demand different maintenance procedures, let's review a few of them.

Wood Siding — If siding and trim were closely fitted and window and door caps were properly flashed when the house was built, there should be little need for exterior repair or maintenance other than painting every three to five years.

However, if moisture has been allowed to penetrate the walls, either from within the house or from without, siding and structural members are likely to rot, and exterior paint is sure to blister and scale off.

Therefore, it is important to replace defective siding and trim with new; sheet-metal flashings should be installed over windows and doors, and joints between siding and trim should be sealed with caulk compound. Scaled and blistered paint should be removed and bare wood primed and repainted.

Shingles — Wood shingles and asbestos-cement shingles are the more commonly used types. Wood shingles, on the one hand, can be repaired if damaged slightly; asbestos shingles, on the other, need to be replaced if damaged at all—for appearance's sake.

A wood shingle which has become loosened or only slightly damaged should be renailed after a piece of tar paper or sheet metal has been slipped under it.

Extensively damaged wood shingles or damaged asbestos shingles should be removed with a nail ripper, or shingle hook. This tool is inserted under a shingle until its blade catches a nail. A sharp hammer blow cuts the nail, making shingles removal and replacement easy. In removing asbestos shingles with the nail ripper, be extremely careful not to damage adjacent shingles.

Asbestos shingles are quite brittle and some may eventually become broken, especially in the lower courses. On this account the home owner is wise who keeps a few extra shingles on hand, because it may be difficult to match existing shingles in later years.

Wallboards — Asbestos shingles or asbestos-cement wallboard are not usually painted, but may be coated with resin-emulsion or rubber-solution paint if desired. If dirty or streaked from soot and the action of rain, these materials can also be improved, appearance-wise, by cleaning them thoroughly with soap, water and a hard-bristle brush, then rinsing.

Asbestos wallboards require no other maintenance. Plywood wallboards, like wood siding, are low-maintenance materials. They merely need protection from the weather with regular applications of a good spar varnish or exterior house paint every few years. Particular attention should be given to nailheads. Reset them before painting and prime them with aluminum paint.

Regular repair and maintenance of exterior house wall coverings pays off in longer life of the materials.

Medical Missionary Explains Program Of Health Care For Natives Of Africa

By JOAN DeSHAMBO

Enjoying Escanaba's hospitality during this week was an Irish nun, Sister Christina Hanley, of the Congregation of Medical Missionaries of Mary from the Mother House of Our Lady of Lourdes at Drogheda, County Lough, Ireland. Sister Hanley, who recently returned from six years of missionary work at Tanganyika, Africa, is a guest of her cousin, Mrs. John Anthony, 1615 3rd Ave. S.

The six years of missionary work began when Sister Hanley and two other sisters, both of that same order, were sent in 1947 to Tanganyika, a country located in East Africa and governed by Great Britain. They were given this opportunity when the Bishop of Mbula, a town in the Tanganyika area, requested the Mother Superior at the Drogheda convent, to send some missionaries there.

Enroute to their assignment, the three of them on their first trip outside of Ireland, traveled by boat, via the Suez Canal, and docked at Mombasa, a seaport town in Kenya. The entire voyage took 17 days. After landing at Mombasa, they traveled into the country about 300 miles by bus.

Hospital And Mission

"My first reaction to this section of Africa was very surprising," Sister Hanley exclaimed. "I expected it to be more primitive than it actually is. We received a very warm reception from the natives, who place a great deal of confidence in us."

These Irish nuns, assisted by the Palatine Fathers, were the first sisters to open a mission of their order in Tanganyika, where they established a mission, hospital and dispensary. Most of the buildings in the mission were already erected upon the sisters arrival because about five years previous, the White Sisters, a French order, had conducted a mission there. Sister Hanley and the others repaired and remodeled many of the buildings. At the present time, a hospital of the Medical Missionaries of Mary is being built about 50 miles away and a house for the training of African girls in the nursing profession is opening in Dareda, Tanganyika.

"The climate of this area is beautiful despite the fact that it is very near the equator. The dry heat of this country is due to the high elevation, 7,000 feet above sea level," she stated. "The summer months there are November, December and January, and the rainy season occurs in March and April."

grade and up.

Pagan Customs

"The natives in this region are very friendly, respectable and grateful, and they have a natural refinement," the missionary said.

Although the mission has about 80 or 90 adult baptisms every year, a large number of the natives are pagans or Mohammedans. The pagans there have an odd custom.

When a wife dies and leaves her husband with small children these children are quickly disposed of. The sisters welcome these children, baptize them and they are later given to good Christian families. During their stay, several children were found who had been thrown out in the forest.

Child care, pre-natal care, child birth and malnutrition are the chief reasons for the native visits to the mission hospital and dispensary. The visits of pregnant women to the hospital is one of the biggest steps ahead in mission work. Such diseases among the natives are malaria and tuberculosis, whose treatment usually is given at a sanatorium. Many of the natives also have been treated for injuries, received from the wild animals, especially those who have been gored by buffaloes.

Dedicated To Healing

While in Africa, Sister Hanley stated, they were provided with European food, which could be obtained from a village, eight miles away. This village included about 18 European families, all connected with the government. They received their mail once or twice a week.

The Congregation of Medical Missionaries of Mary, founded in Ireland in 1937, is an order dedicated to the medical profession and has six houses in Ireland, 15 in West Africa, three in Tanganyika, one in Angola, near the Belgian Congo, and one in Naples.

An especially interesting aspect of this order is their manner of dress. Their habits are not even similar to the habits worn by most American and European nuns. They are really dressed more as nurses than as a nun. The founder, Mother Mary Martin of Ireland, designed their habit, which proves very practical in medical missionary work. Their habits are a tailored street length dress of a lightweight grey flannel with white Peter pan collars. Their veils are of matching material and are a little shorter in length than those usually seen. The veils have a thin piece of white piping on the crown. Completing their habit is a sleeveless grey cardigan type jacket of the same material.

Returns To Mission

Upon leaving Africa, Sister Hanley traveled to Ireland around the Cape in 31 days at sea. She, a native of County Limerick, arrived at the Mother House on the last day of February 1953.

Making her first visit to the United States, Sister Hanley arrived in New York May 24. While here, she visited at the only American house of her order at Winchester, Mass., for one week. After that, she visited in Binghamton, N.Y.; St. Louis, Mo.; Alton, Ill.; Cleveland, Ohio, and the last part of her journey took her to Escanaba, where she arrived last Thursday.

"I am very impressed by the United States. It is a wonderful country where the people are very kind and hospitable," Mrs. Anthony's cousin said.

Sister Hanley, who left yesterday for New York, where she will board the liner Mauratania, for her return to the Mother House, plans to return to Tanganyika. She explained that she was most happy while at the mission.

Large Mess Hall, Camp Red Buck's 'Heart', Popular With Boy Scouts

THE CHOW LINE FORMS — Boy Scouts at Camp Red Buck are always prepared for mess call three times a day, with occasional trips to the commissary for snacks in between. The mess hall is the heart of camp Red Buck.

kitchen with modern facilities, and a dining room to accommodate nearly 100 persons. Mrs. Ernest Rudolph and Mrs. Charles Tolman of Escanaba are the cooks.

ivities in the afternoon, followed by swimming, creates appetites for supper at 6.

Evenings include recreation ranging from sports, hikes, canoeing and fishing to archery. By 9:15 the Scouts are called to bed and 15 minutes later the bugler sounds taps—and the end of a Camp Red Buck day.

The headquarters building is the latest to be erected. It was built in 1952 by prison labor and includes a first aid room with a cot and stove and necessary first aid supplies. The headquarters building accommodates the staff and office.

Besides the mess hall and headquarters, other buildings at Red Buck include the wash-up building, tool shed, handicraft building and a gear locker with sleeping quarters.

Famed Canoe Trips

The Scouts sleep in tents, erected over wood platform floors. There are 33 tents with three Scouts to a tent. Each tent is equipped with beds and mattresses.

Swimming, one of the most popular sports, is at Council Lake, where there is a sand beach and a dock. Eight canoes and 25 row boats are provided for trips, fishing, and water sports.

Clarence Zerbel of Escanaba, one of Red Buck's veterans, is director of canoe trips of 12 miles are made each week, with seven boys in four canoes.

Guardian and administrator of this tract of second growth timber is Ranger Edwin R. Crook, Manistique. He must daily keep his finger on the variable pulse of the forest. His day, therefore, is long and varied.

After early morning clerical work in the district office in Manistique Ranger Crook, on this particular day, left for eight hours of field study. His first stop was the eighty-six foot high Steuben Fire Tower, an important link in the forest's fire prevention setup. The Ranger checked the conditions with his lookout and carefully surveyed the terrain.

East and West

To the east he could see East Lake and North Lake, with Thunder Lake Road bisecting the green stands of timber. To the west railroad tracks separated one group of trees from another. The wind whistled through the tower but in the forest it was still warm. In the south faint black smoke exuded from the Manistique Pulp and Paper Company mill as the blue smoke curled into the blue sky from some ship on Lake Michigan.

The Ranger checked various campgrounds during the morning and afternoon and examined rental sites along Indian River. A great deal of the camping space was in use, both on the river and at Camp Seven Lake.

Lunch For Four

A work crew of four was starting to open their lunch baskets after putting in a morning's work girding aspen so they would eventually die. The trees needed release and girdling was more economical and feasible than cutting. A four-inch wide strip around the tree had been shaved by the workers.

Various markings on a long wooden stick meant many things to Ranger Crook and contract loggers as he scaled many piles of logs during the course of the day—logs that would eventually be pulp and then paper. The logs had been skidded and the Ranger would jot the figures in his own notebook. After the cell is closed the total value of the timber cut

AXE SHARPENING — Robert E. Meyer, Escanaba (seated), Scout director at Red Buck, instructs Scout Jim Beckman of Marquette in the art of sharpening an axe.

Near Stevens Lake a workman was operating a grader on the dusty Corner Lake road that had once been a sand-dust trail. As the sun streamed down on the baked wheelmarks the Ranger and the operator talked of 121-degree heat in Kansas.

Honest Trespasser Sets Off Alarm

OMAHA (AP) — Police learned that Robert Viele is a conscientious man. He wanted to go fishing and he wanted to dig worms near a grain elevator. But he didn't want to trespass.

He went to the office door and tried to rouse someone. His efforts set off the burglar alarm.

Dishes Are Important

Magee charges 10 cents for the first cup of coffee and only five for the second — if the same cup is used.

Family Register Contains Names Of Local Residents

Leonard Elquist has received a family tree or register of the Olaf Art family prepared in Sweden by the late Gustav Adolf Swanson.

The register has been printed in book form and lists 179 known descendants of the family who are now in America scattered from coast to coast.

Nine generations of the family are contained in the book, which lists the Elquists, Swensons, Winters, Froberg and Kegels of this community.

Leonard Elquist assisted in gathering material on members of the family in the United States and Swanson has given him credit for the help in the book.

Although orchids were once thought to be parasites on trees, it is now known that they cling to trees, but do not take any nourishment from them.

Judge Edward J. Doyle fined three dog ordinance violators Thursday and released Lloyd Ansell, Garden, from the Schoolcraft County Jail following payment of a $10 fine.

Ansell had served 60 days for "drunk driving" and paid the fine in Justice Court for "driving with a revoked license." If not he would have had another 30 days in jail.

Scout Corps Takes U.P. Championship

CALUMET — Winning their first Upper Peninsula American Legion Junior drum and bugle corps championship here Friday night, the Legion sponsored Manistique Boy Scout drum and bugle corps defeated Stambaugh's entry as the Upper Peninsula Legion convention opened.

Directed by Louis Rogers, the Manistique group consists of 24 buglers, 11 drummers and one cymbalist. Four Scout color guard members and one equipment manager also made the trip with the corps.

Following their winning competition, featuring an original kneeling and bowing number, the corps marched in Friday's forty-and-eight parade.

This afternoon they participated in the main Legion convention parade and tonight they will take part in the convention festival.

City Finishes Sewer, Walk

Sewers have been completed and city crews are working on water installation on the west end of Arbutus Ave. City workmen have also completed the sidewalk on the north side of Cherry St., and have to complete curbing between Terrace Ave. and Range St.

The curbing between Terrace Ave. and Steuben St. is finished. The work was financed by special assessment. The sidewalk on the north side of Washington St., approved for construction at Monday's City Council meeting, will be started July 23 or 26, City Manager Orson Livermore revealed.

Crushed gravel and stone will be laid on Walnut St., between Range and Maple Sts., during the first part of next week. City crews graded the street Thursday.

Opened for traffic today was the hole in the east side of South Cedar St. The excavation had been made to supply water to a new self-service laundry.

For Deep Thought

While the dredge digs in our harbor it might be wise to make plans for Manistique's port in the future. With the completion of the St. Lawrence Seaway commerce on the Great Lakes will probably increase. If this city is to take advantage of that upsurge and its latent possibilities, we must act soon. Plans should be made for a study of our facilities and possible expansion. Appointment of a harbor commission might be the logical answer and a step in the right direction.

Workers Extinguish Minor Grass Fire

Quickly extinguished a 5:05 p. m. Friday grass fire was the only blaze discovered in the Hiawatha National Forest as both Manistique District Fire Towers reported different danger ratings.

The fire occurred behind the quarters of the Rapid River Forest Ranger Station. It was put out by local forest workers.

At the Steuben Tower the mark was 49 at 2:30 p. m. That area has not had a measurable rainfall for 19 days. Eleven days without precipitation shows on the meter, however. Humidity at Steuben was listed as 40 while the wind was from the southwest at 5-10 miles per hour.

The Cooks Tower reported a rating of 18 at 1 p. m. and a humidity of 40. Wind was also from the southwest at 10 miles per hour. Rain has not fallen at Cooks for 15 days.

Conditions in the Manistique River State Forest were reported "hazardous" at 5 p. m. Friday. There has been no rain for 14 days in the forest. The wind was from the south at 10 miles per hour and the humidity was 60, contributing to a danger rating of 17 at 5 p. m. and 16 at noon.

Miss Wall Beaten In State Amateur Finals

DETROIT (AP)—Mrs. E. O. Fannie Reynolds, who has two children and swings her golf club left-handed, is Michigan's new women's amateur champion of the links.

The Lansing housewife won the title by coming from behind Friday for a dramatic upset win over three-time champion Mary Agnes Wall in 38 holes, one up.

On the second extra hole in a sizzler at the Detroit Golf club Mrs. Reynolds calmly sank a 12-foot putt in a nervy finish.

That single shot gave her the ladies' prize—over the Menominee veteran of long acknowledged skill—but she had to shoot out of perils immediately beforehand.

On the 17th and 18th holes of the second round Mrs. Reynolds was caught behind trees. Each time she recovered, however.

On the 38th, Mary Agnes was 30 feet away from the cup. She missed by inches, and Mrs. Reynolds dropped her 12-footer.

This was the first time since 1935 that the women's finals had gone extra holes. It was Mrs. Reynolds' fourth appearance in the tournament.

Garver's ERA Is Tops But Not His W-L Mark

BOSTON (AP)—If the Detroit Tigers lose many more games for Ned Garver, they may post a remarkable record for the major leagues.

At the rate things are going, Garver could wind up 1954 as the best man in the American league on the basis of the earned run average. And with only a so-so won-lost record.

The Boston Red Sox, behind their terrific young giant Frank Sullivan, beat Garver and the Tigers Friday 3-0 on one earned run. An error brought in the other two.

Has 6-6 Record

Garver's performance sustained his lead on the earned-run rating. But he is only 6-6 in the W-L listing.

Ned's sixth loss came as Sullivan, the 6-foot-7 rookie from California, held Detroit to three hits. Tiger rookie second baseman Reno Bertola dropped a two-out pop fly which let two runners score.

Garver allowed seven hits in his seven innings of work and walked only one man.

Sullivan, allowing only one Tiger to reach second base, blanked Detroit for his second successive shutout. He pitched the Red Sox' tremendous 18-0 win over Philadelphia last Sunday.

The Tigers today went after an even split in four games with the Red Sox. It was either Ray Herbert (2-5) or Billy Hoeft (4-9) for Detroit against Tom Brewer (5-5) for Boston.

Bertola's muffed pop fly came in the fourth inning with Ted Williams on third and Harry Agganis on first. Williams had doubled and Agganis singled to the infield.

Costly Dropped Ball

With two out, Ted Lepcio lofted a cloud-scraping header second in short center. Bertola dropped it. The ball had played with it a little—and both Williams and Agganis got home.

Boston's only earned run came in the sixth. Jackie Jensen singled home Jimmy Piersall who had singled and moved to third on a walk to Williams and Sammy White's sacrifice.

The Tigers had gone nine straight games without error until Friday's game. It equaled a mark shared by four other American League teams.

David Lawrence Column Begins Monday In Press

How successful will the administration be in solving the current problems of Soviet expansion and American defense?

David Lawrence, prominent columnist and commentator on foreign affairs, answers these questions six times weekly in his Washington dispatches. "Today in Washington" which will start in the Escanaba Daily Press on Monday, July 19, Lawrence is probably even more widely known for his analyses of such domestic questions as labor, politics and civil rights.

The first newspaper to carry David Lawrence's copy was the Buffalo Express, giving Lawrence his initial job as a reporter at the age of 15.

Five years later, while he was a sophomore at Princeton and a reporter for a number of newspapers, Lawrence scored his first "scoop"—and a big one—with four words: "Grover Cleveland is dead!"

Following his graduation from Princeton in 1910, Lawrence joined the Washington staff of the Associated Press, and for the next six years he handled war news related to Washington, especially as it bore on America's neutrality.

One of David Lawrence's innovations was the United States Daily, a newspaper designed to inform the American public about its government and what it was doing. From 1926 until 1933, the United States Daily was a newspaper. Then it evolved into a weekly, The United States News.

On the editorial page, David Lawrence wrote the weekly "backpage" articles that became one of the publication's outstanding features. On January 1, 1940, the newspaper format was dropped and the United States News appeared as a magazine—"still the one publication in the United States devoted entirely to national affairs."

With the world spotlight falling more and more on Europe during the '40s, David Lawrence was encouraged to start a publication extending to international affairs. In May, 1946, World Report, a weekly magazine with such a purpose, made its debut and within the first six months of publication, World Report claimed a paid subscription list of 100,000.

During the next few years, however, as the demand for the output of business and agriculture in the U. S. tied in with the European Recovery Program, and as the interests of the U. S. and Europe grew more interdependent, the need was felt for a merger of the national and international magazines. On January 7, 1948, therefore, the two magazines were incorporated into a single weekly, "U. S. News and World Report."

David Lawrence, writing at the peak of a carefully developed form, is syndicated today in well over 200 U. S. papers. Because he is an expert in business, labor, economics, politics, and international affairs, Lawrence is considered one of the country's top news analysts.

Chatham Round-Up For Every U.P. Farm Family

CHATHAM—The 35th annual Farmers' Round-Up at Chatham on July 30 is a day that belongs to every Upper Peninsula farm family, stresses Russell E. Horwood, superintendent of the Chatham Experiment Station.

It will be their chance to see the agricultural research work being done to help solve Upper Peninsula problems and to take home some tips on varieties and practices that will add profits to their operations.

The research program at the station is developed in cooperation with the farmers' peninsula-wide Agricultural Advisory Council and the county agricultural agents. Supt. Horwood points out that information will cover grain and forage crops; feeding, sanitation, breeding and management of dairy cattle; poultry management; horticultural production and soil management and fertility. All the work has direct application to most farms in the northern peninsula of Michigan.

The events will start promptly at 10 a. m. (EST), with conducted tours by buses to the soil conservation run-off plots—first of this kind in the Upper Peninsula. These plots were built cooperatively with the soil conservation districts.

Tours will cover tillage and fertilization demonstrations, show-control plots and forest management programs will be reviewed. Small fruits and vegetables will be features. There will be a display of weed control chemicals and results.

Visitors will see a herd of 40 purebred Holstein dairy cattle, of which three-fourths were sired by artificial insemination. Loosening housing for heifers, trench and upright silos, and mow-drying equipment will be available for study.

Tables will be available for families bringing basket lunches, points out Supt. Horwood, and food may be purchased from stands. In addition to the food provided at stands by local extension groups, a limited number of meals will be available at Camp Shaw, where the early afternoon program is scheduled.

The main speaker at Camp Shaw will be Dr. Thomas K. Cowden, dean of the School of Agriculture at Michigan State College.

Afternoon departmental programs will include:

"What's New in Decorating" for the homemakers.

Forestry demonstrations on pruning spruce and pine for miles, no military force, and only 50 policemen.

Harvesting, storing and feeding of roughages for livestock.

Repeat tours to the poultry, ga-

den and upper farm areas.
